MEDIATION APPROACH

Experience has taught me to do what works and not get too caught up in theory or the academic side of mediation. My goal is to get the case in a position where the parties can see a clear path to settlement.

My approach varies because no two cases are alike. For example, an employment case can be very sensitive to the parties involved as can a police misconduct case or a medical malpractice case. Probably the best way to describe my approach to mediation is to be sure that the parties are dealing with their REAL case, not the one they wish they had. This often involves asking both sides questions, sometimes uncomfortable ones. (The tough questions are asked in separate sessions).

When parties request I will become very active in their negotiations. For a full explanation of my mediation style and philosophy, please download an article I wrote for the SFTLA magazine. It can be found at the ADR website (www.adrservices.com). Although originally written as a practical guide for the plaintiff's bar, it also tells the defense how I approach mediation.

My assumption in mediation is that the parties are there to get their case settled, not just have a discussion or use the process as a discovery vehicle. I view the process as a "time out" from the litigation and an opportunity to identify the REAL case.

I work with little formality. As long as the attorneys agree, anyone can speak, not just the lawyers. I insist on civility but I am very sensitive to what the parties themselves want the process to be.

I discourage "opening statements" and oral arguments. My theory is that the briefs should adequately cover the parties' legal positions and opening statements and arguments only reinforce entrenched positions and don't help settle cases.

In my opinion, mediation should not resemble what we experience in court. Trial is always an option if you don't settle your case. I don't try to tell the defense about the "cost of defense" or tell the plaintiffs that they "might lose their case".

REPRESENTATIVE CASES

Employment

- Female clerical employee claimed her employers gave her unwanted massages including full body massages. She was employed for three months, took time off and finally left her employment. She claimed emotional distress, no wage loss claim.
- A 38-year-old veteran elementary school teacher with multiple sclerosis claimed the district failed to accommodate her disability, forcing her to retire.
- 28 construction workers joined as Plaintiffs discrimination case alleging various theories, including Failure to hire, wrongful termination / race discrimination. Case complicated by insolvency of principal employer leaving Project owners and general contractor as Defendants. Confidential Settlement.
- Low 6 figure settlement for an Elementary School teacher who claimed she was harassed and constructively terminated for reporting an incident of clergy abuse in her past.
- Low 6 figure settlement for a Female employee terminated when Employer perceived that she was pregnant. Employer denied that was the reason, suggesting there were performance issues.
- Confidential high 6 figure settlement for a Departing Corporate Officer who claimed he was owed an additional million dollars in compensation while the Board claimed he committed misconduct and was overpaid.
- 5 figure settlement for Female mid-level manager who claimed her employer failed to accommodate her digestive disability and retaliated against her when she complained. Employer claimed it did everything possible to accommodate her limitations.
- Mid 5 figure settlement for Night shift employee of a mass Transit Employer who claimed he was being intentionally harassed and endangered by day shift managers and claimed Constructive termination. Employer claimed the offensive acts were committed by peers and, if they occurred at all, were trivial in nature and that he simply left on his own.

Personal Injury / Products Liability

- Intersection accident, in which defendant had $100k policy. The case settled for $200k with $100k contribution by the insured.
- 350K settlement for a High School student's mother who tripped and fell on outdoor makeshift steps while attending daughter's tennis match. The fall resulted in disfiguring facial injuries.
- Confidential low 6 figure settlement for a Plaintiff who accidentally cut off 2 fingertips while using a table saw for a home improvement project. Plaintiff claimed the saw was defective because, although it came with a safety guard, the guard was removable and he had removed it. Claimed safer available technology.

- 5 figure settlement for Intersection accident where both vehicles had a stop sign. Case resolved by discussion of physical evidence. No witnesses. Multiple skeletal injuries.
- Low 7 figure settlement for a Seaman who suffered disabling back injuries after slipping and falling in a walk-in freezer aboard ship. Maritime law issues.
- Confidential 7 figure settlement for the family of a Dockworker crushed by container during unloading of vessel. Wrongful death claim. Longshoreman and Harbor Workers' Act.
- High 6 figure settlement for a Personal injury and 2 wage and hour cases brought on behalf of three Tree Service workers. Employer had failed to procure Workers' Comp coverage. Settlement included cash and medical coverage purchased by Employer.
- Severe dog bite to infant necessitating facial surgery. Dog ownership disputed. Both the purported dog owner and the kennel contributed equally to a 1.25 million dollar settlement.
- Plaintiff mechanic injured when a Gantry crane collapsed on her and rendered her a paraplegic. Employer settled workers' compensation claim and waived lien with manufacturer paying low eight-figures.
- $6 million settlement. Wrongful Death for spouse and children of decedent in his 50s making over $100k/year. Decedent was walking home from a party when he was struck and killed by a drunk driver. Plaintiffs claimed the City was on notice from neighborhood complaints about excessive vehicle speeds. Claimed improper road modifications, road design, lack of sidewalk, unsafe lighting and absent traffic controls. City claimed immunities.

Medical / Hospital / Pharmaceutical/ Malpractice

- 750K settlement for the Death of a 38 year old unemployed woman due to overmedication during outpatient plastic surgery. No anesthesiologist in attendance. Surgeon fled the jurisdiction. Case settled against physician group.
- Feeding tube placed in airway instead of stomach. Wrongful death of 63 year old woman. Confidential low 6 figure settlement.
- Ventilation tube placed in esophagus instead of airway. Wrongful death. Limited economic losses. Mid 6 figure settlement.
- Medication error by Compounding pharmacy not discovered by Retail Pharmacy. Damages disputed. Main issue was that the patient's claimed adverse reaction was inconsistent with published side effects. Confidential mid 5 figure settlement.

Civil Rights / Law Enforcement / Public Entity / School District Liability

- $2.5 million dollar settlement for a high school freshman who was sexually molested by her teacher for over a year. Claimed negligent supervision and failure of mandatory reporters to report incidents of questionable behavior. Damages alleged need for lifetime therapy.

- $50K settlement for an African American attorney whom Police stopped, detained and briefly handcuffed after shots had been “reported in the area” over the radio with no specific location.
- High 6 figure settlement for the family of an African American inmate suffocated by correctional officers when his seizures were mistaken for a threat during the booking processing.
- 800K settlement for an 80 year old woman who was attacked in her kitchen by a Police dog allowed off-leash. Severe tissue and nerve damage to arm.
- High 6 figure settlement for the spouse of a former gang member placed in a holding cell after exhibiting bizarre behavior at arrest. Over a 6 hour period, the Prisoner hanged himself with a makeshift rope fashioned from his shirt. Claimed he should have been put on a suicide watch. Wrongful death. Immunity issues.
- Plaintiffs, husband and wife, claimed that State and local Joint task force drug raid erroneously targeted their residence. Occupants claimed Warrants were defective and overbroad. Claimed damages for False arrest / wrongful detention. Emotional distress claimed. No physical injury. Low 6 figure settlement.
- Mass Transit Police shoot a suspect on a platform after he threatened them by throwing a Bottle. Suspect carrying a knife not visible to officers. Compromise 5 figure settlement.
- Mass Transit Police stop, pursue and arrest a passenger who ran away when ordered to stop playing loud music. Alleged excessive force. Minor injuries. Mid 5 figure settlement.
- Mass Transit Police Beat patron with a baton causing superficial bruising. Plaintiff claimed beating was for failing to follow instructions. Excessive force claimed. Mid 5 figure settlement.

Business / ERISA / Other cases

- Settled numerous cases involving retail establishments sued over alleged architectural barriers. Handicap Access compliance, Readily Achievable standard, attorneys’ fees.
- Negotiated numerous settlements involving ERISA issues including Claims by Plan Members for denial of medical/disability benefits. Issues typically included the standard of Review, Delegation of Discretion, the Role of Trustees in determining plan benefits and the determination of offsets for Social Security and Workers Compensation. Other ERISA cases involved Actions by Trustees alleging Underfunded Contributions by Employer, Audits.
